

Journalism Practicum Diary # 10

Student's name: Julia Weng

Week of: July 27 – 31, 2020

Supervisor's name: JoAnn Goslin

Agency/Station/Company Office: Bloomberg Law

My two main objectives for this week were:

To have my enterprise article through their last rounds of editing from both the enterprise editors and my desk editors and to have my article out and published by my last day!

I achieved these objectives: Yes _____ No _____ Partially ___X___

Explain how you achieved or why you did not achieve your goals. Be specific.

All of the work on my side and Dan's side was completed well before my last day, but because last minute editing took longer than expected, the publishing date of my article was pushed back to the following Tuesday.

Describe the work you personally performed and observed.

I devoted 100% of my time and energy to my enterprise article, which when published was called, "Protester Surveillance May Test Constitutional Privacy in Courts."

List the names and titles/positions of all the people you directly worked with this week.

This week I worked with my mentor, Dan Stoller, my editors John Hughes and Keith Perine, our assigned enterprise editor Cheryl Saenz, and my internship supervisors JoAnn Goslin and Paul Albergo.

Describe any new skills or concepts you learned or important observations (about yourself or others) you made this week.

I'm really proud of myself and the rest of my intern cohort! We all produced amazing bylines and have grown so much over the course of these past ten weeks! I wish we had been in person so that we could have gotten to know each other better, but oh well! I think we all still made the best out of interning in remote/virtual environments.

Describe any significant experiences, achievements, "aha" moments and/ or roadblocks you had this week.

The last day was so sad! Saying goodbye to everyone was really a bittersweet moment. Especially with my mentor Dan, who I had grown so close with. But we all agreed that at some point (when it's safe of course), we'll have to meet up so that we may see each other in person.
